Capabilities

System Engineering & Integration

SBG engineers perform hardware, software and enterprise architecture reviews and assessments to support systems development and integration. Our engineers assist clients with systems maintenance, testing, independent verification and validation, and evaluation.

Mobile Applications

SBG developers design mobile applications for all major mobile operating systems including iOS, Android, Blackberry, Windows Phone and iPad. Our developers work with the customer to define a mobile strategy and develop an application to match it.

Software Development

SBG provides all phases of the software development life cycle from requirements gathering to development, implementation and deployment. SBG delivers system maintenance and upgrades, redesigning outdated applications to improve functionality, user experience and security.

Help Desk Services

SBG provides Tier I, II and III help desk services and performs troubleshooting, database management, maintenance and code fix enhancements.

Program Management

SBG provides effective and responsive project management, communications, budgeting, scheduling, risk management and quality assurance support.

Consulting

SBG's cadre of experts offers scientific research and analysis, survey design and administration, statistical modeling and analysis as well as change management and communications strategies.

Training Solutions

SBG designs, develops, delivers and evaluates custom training courses. SBG combines subject matter expertise with web and mobile application development capabilities to provide a unique full-service solution to our clients. Our course developers create courses for traditional and 21st century delivery – from in-classroom training to online and mobile applications.
